

From: Kent Daniels
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/5/01 9:29pm
Subject: The proposed remedy will not and cannot work

The remedy proposed by the DOJ in the Microsoft case provides a potential loophole for Microsoft that would prevent them from having to release their operating system's API's to software competitors. By allowing such a major flaw in this ruling to go unchecked, it would effectively give Microsoft the latitude to continue business as usual, as a "practicing monopoly".